Ethnicity/Ancestry

Ethnicity is the ethnic group or groups that people identify with or feel they belong to, and is a measure of cultural affiliation, as opposed to race, ancestry, nationality or citizenship. Ethnicity is self-perceived and people can belong to more than one ethnic group. A person's ethnicity may not necessarily match their ancestry. Ancestry is a biological and historical concept and refers to a person's blood descent. You are eligible for consideration under the TAS (Pacific) if you are of indigenous Pacific Island ancestry, and are a citizen or permanent resident of New Zealand.

Pacific Islands:

For the purposes of TAS (Pacific), the Pacific Islands category includes Samoa, American Samoa, Tonga, Cook Islands, Niue, Tokelau, Fiji, Rotuma, Solomon Islands, New Caledonia, Papua New Guinea, Kiribati, Tuvalu, Palau, Marshall Islands, Federated States of Micronesia, Wallis and Futuna, Hawai'i, French Polynesia, Rapanui (Easter Island).

Indigeneity:

Indigenous Pacific Islanders are the native, original inhabitants of these islands.

Certification of Ancestry

The certification of your indigenous Pacific Island ancestry must be completed by a Church Elder, Community Leader, or Chief who knows your family, or a Justice of the Peace, or Solicitor. The Certifier must be of Pacific Island descent (excluding the Justice of the Peace/Solicitor) and cannot be your sibling, spouse, parent or grandparent.

Should it be necessary to seek clarification of any of the information submitted, we will contact the named certifier. TAS (Pacific) eligibility will not be considered until this form has been completed and any verification concerns have been addressed.
